It's shocking to have so many movies to watch and no one to ask for advice. For this we have created something that can be like your "other" best friend able to give the right advice at the right time”

It's shocking to have so many movies to watch and no one to ask for advice. For this we have created something that can be like a best friend with the same tastes, and is able to give the right advice at the right time.

There has been a lot of talk about how to solve this problem and after years of study we have found the solution that we want to share with everyone”.

With TellyMoods, stop searching and start watching the Movie or TV Series. The recommendations is highly tailor-made: they fit with the unique mood of the user in that very specific moment, in exactly the same way as a best friend understand the Movie one is in the best mood for, and witch is out-of-the-table for that night.

How do we suggest what to watch?

The process used by TellyMoods to tell the user what to watch is innovative and based on a proprietary artificial intelligence algorithm.

On the user side, everything is very simple and fast:

- 1) Select the platforms you are interested in (Netflix, Disney+, HBO ...)
- 2) Play a quick engaging test and let TellyMoods check your current mood
- 3) Let the magic happen ...
- 4) From a list of suggestions, choose the Movie or TV Series you want to see right away.

“Furthermore,” continues Andrea Sawires, co-founder and Head of Engineering, “TellyMoods is something we needed and now we are very proud and excited to share it with all other Movies and TV Series lovers, for free, now available on the App Store and Google Play”.
