new concepts, innovations, sustainability initiatives and property design stories.

The Fairmont Olympic in Seattle, designed by MG2, received the grand title of “Interior Design of the Year”.

“We are honored to receive this award as it recognizes the forward-thinking vision put forth by the hotel’s owners, the project designers, the hotel operating team and the Fairmont brand,” said Sheldon Froc, Director, Interior Design, North & Central America, Accor.

“From the outset of the project, the Fairmont Olympic Hotel’s restoration sought to provide a space where guests and locals could enjoy the hotel’s rich heritage from a new perspective with the introduction of a lively bar in the lobby’s lounge area. The new Olympic Bar adds color, lighting and luxurious layering all while respecting the history and heritage of the surrounding interior. These traditional elements are contrasted further by the introduction of a kinetic art installation that draws inspiration from the hotel’s historic ship logo. Altogether, this transformation is the beginning of a new chapter in the timeless tale of the hotel that will, undoubtedly, be enjoyed for many years to come.”

The range of work was astounding with Accor honorees in Architecture category: Bodumas Overwater Seafood Restaurant of the Movenpick Resort Kuredhivaru Maldives designed by MOTIV Studio. In Interior Design, the design company MIXD was awarded for the ibis Styles Sarajevo designed by Piotr Kalinowski, Mercure Antwerp City Centre designed by Buckley Gray Yeoman won in the City Destination category.
