Showcasing two limited editions, the LOCMAN MONTECRISTO OISA 1937 and the much-awaited LOCMAN Montecristo Open Heart, the iconic model lays bare and reveals its deepest soul.

It is a long and incredible journey that has led to the birth of the new Montecristo OISA in 1937. A voyage is represented by a sailing ship that sets sail against the backdrop of the two-worlds planisphere. That recalls the crossings of the brave and daring Italian explorers of the 15th century and those of Italian watchmakers from the time of Galileo Galilei. An Italian story of passion and courage, born and raised between LOCMAN, a historic watchmaker from Elba, and OISA 1937, another excellence of Italian-made products. The OISA 1937 manual mechanical movement - as the result of years of research - finds its place in the LOCMAN Montecristo, a model with the aim of a new challenge: to revive mechanical Made in Italy watchmaking.

The Montecristo Open Heart's eye-catching feature is the transparent dial. Together with the crystal at the bottom, offers a view of the beating heart of a prestigious automatic chronograph mechanism, the Swiss Sellita SW500 25- ruby stop second movement. The mechanism's reliability is underlined by the unique three-year guarantee issued by LOCMAN.

The Italian character of the design in each model is underlined by the presence of the Italian flag at 6 o'clock and the words "Made in Italy."

Don't be afraid to have courage”
