COSTA MESA, CALIFORNIA, USA, May 22, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Pick Sunflowers at Hana Field by Tanaka Farms, Orange County's Only U-Pick Sunflower Field!

Wander through over five acres of blooming sunflowers, take photos, and pick sunflowers to take home.

Hana means flower in Japanese, and Hana Field by Tanaka Farms is acres and acres of beautiful seasonal flowers, like sunflowers throughout the year, zinnias in the summer, and marigolds in the fall. The sunflowers are now in full bloom for the 2022 season! We currently have twelve different varieties of sunflowers in bloom. Bright yellow Sunrich Golds, pale and dainty Butter Creams, fiery Procut Reds, and dramatic multicolor Florenzas, just to name a few.

Hana Field is the perfect place for a day date, lunch in the shaded picnic table area, snapping that perfect selfie, or just getting out of the house to enjoy picking sunflowers while soaking up some Vitamin-D! Open on weekends, by reservation only, with gates opening at 10am and last entry to the fields at 4pm. General admission is only $10, and U-Pick Sunflowers are only $15 for 15 flowers!

Hana Field by Tanaka Farms is located at 427 Anton Boulevard, Costa Mesa, CA 92626. The farm is located at the corner of Sunflower and Anton. Entry to parking and check-in is located on Anton Boulevard.

Things to Remember...

Bring your own cutting utensils (sunflowers have very thick stems, so bring a sharp cutter or serrated knife) and gardening gloves (especially if you have sensitive skin). Hana Field does have a limited supply of cutters available for purchase.

All children must remain close to their parent/guardian at all times. The field is large, and with uneven ground. It is easy for children to get lost or injured. Please keep your kids close!

Please note: Hana Field by Tanaka Farms is a real working farm! The fields can get quite muddy, so closed-toe shoes that you don't mind getting dirty are a must. Long pants, or long socks, as stinging nettles (weeds) grow all around the farm, are also recommened. Also, bees love sunflowers, so if you have an allergy, beware that there will be a lot of bees on the premises. In addition to bees, farms do attract a lot of insects. If this is something that might bother you, make sure to use bug spray, or dress accordingly.

No Pets: Other than ADA service dogs, pets are NOT permitted at Hana Field.
