

LinkDaddy® Rolls Out Link Building Service for Small Businesses

LinkDaddy offers genuine link building services to small business owners, helping their websites compete more on search engine ranking.

UNITED STATES, May 21, 2022

/EINPresswire.com/ -- While businesses are increasingly realizing that acquiring more genuine links for their websites is important, it is also getting more difficult to acquire genuine and high-relevancy backlinks. As an SEO strategy, broken link building and cold outreach are proving to be inefficient. As link building gets more saturated and with traditional backlinking methods providing little ROI, business owners need a trustworthy backlink building service that provides an SEO boost without the need to spend more advertising dollars.

LinkDaddy provides one such comprehensive backlink service that includes – DoFollow backlinks, Business listing backlinks, Aggressive Tier 1 backlinks, and Google Stack backlinks.

46% of businesses allocate up to $10,000 or more from the marketing budget to link-building exercises and nearly 35% of companies allocate more than $1000 per month for their link-building efforts. The reason is easy to understand – a site with a healthy and expanding backlink profile has every chance of finding the top position on the search engine results page. However, the costs can become overwhelming and unsustainable for many, especially the smaller businesses.

LinkDaddy provides a more affordable solution by helping sites develop a solid backlink profile in a rather shorter period without the need to manage any ad campaigns. For instance, the LinkDaddy Google Stack Backlinking service utilizes existing Google assets of a business, like Google Sites, Blogger, Docs, Sheets, Forms, and Slides. All these assets contain the company information and are made public, linking back to the main website. By using Google's own assets and using them like authoritative domains, this LinkDaddy gig helps businesses quickly power up their linking profile, giving them a higher chance of getting indexed, crawled, and ranked better.

Building a backlink profile is not easy because link-building trends keep changing. While a few might provide fantastic results for a few weeks, some might not create any impact. More importantly, many link-building tools sold online don't deliver at all in the longer run. This is why businesses need SEO experts who can keep up with how search engines interpret backlinks, differentiating the developing and mainstream trends from the upcoming, more disruptive trends.

The LinkDaddy team is up to date with the latest in backlink industry trends to boost link acquisition and retention and to ensure maximum impact. The idea is to deliver a domain authority score boost that is sustained over a period without any risk of getting spammed.

Despite fresh and authoritative content being one of the most recommended ways to boost backlinking and bring organic traffic to a website, there are lots of efforts that don't get rewarded right away. LinkDaddy business backlinks for citations present a solution to this problem. This gig ensures that a business website gets quick, effective, and genuine backlinks. For building this link strategy, the business owner does not need to spend indefinitely and there is no risk of being penalized by Google. This helps to control the cost, not requiring a business owner to continuously invest in creating and publishing content copies.

At all times, the LinkDaddy team ensures that it lines up only top-quality backlinks, checking them for HTTPS security, strong organic traffic, and niche relevancy, staying away from sites that have a history of Google penalization or have had any run-ins with a link farm or a PBN.

This reinstates the fact that a business owner should not look at link building as a one-time exercise. This is an ongoing activity that helps to create, nourish, and multiply more backlinks, with an emphasis on maintaining high niche relevancy. The website gets more domain boost if the backlinking strategy ensures building DoFollow backlinks to the targeted website. While the speed at which this is done can vary, the consistency of the work matters. There are some digital agencies out there that provide bulk linking but very quickly, the backlinks are lost, and many turn out to be spammy, bringing down the overall domain authority.

LinkDaddy offers a premium, DoFollow SEO backlinking service that can provide a URL up to 300+ niche-authority backlinks with the assurance of more than 95% generic anchor text with DoFollow backlinks. The gig offers the freedom to link to the home page URL or any of the inner website pages, and even the product page of an eCommerce store.

A website must have good, engaging content but even more important is the regularity of refreshing the content, embedded with trending and evergreen keywords if the blogging is to bring about a boost in relevant backlinking. Google is attracted to high-quality organic content and the website blog presents an excellent way of publishing it. While small business owners realize the worth of blogs being the organic link magnet, they often don't have the resources to maintain a blog. Think of local contractors like roofers and plumbers whose websites aren't often updated and seldom refreshed with new content. This can be a major restriction for link-building efforts.

LinkDaddy offers help to such business owners with its Aggressive Tier 1 backlinking service for the big-money keywords. The gig has proven effective for service providers who can offer sufficient, if not excessive, branded URL anchor text. Using this gig, business websites get a kick in their placement in the SERPs. This is further boosted with the LinkDaddy PR service. Here, a team of PR specialists crafts a press release that is then published and shared across relevant news wires and content distribution networks that help to bring in genuine traffic, adding to a website's niche-authority backlink profile.

A large portion of all clicks go to organic search whereas PPC ads deliver click volumes at a cost that continues to vary. While businesses continue to spend on Google Ads, few realize that the bigger gains are heavily biased towards organic search success. Yes, getting a website ranked is not a short-term or cheap affair but if done via an agency that can offer long-term affordability and consistency, the results can be highly rewarding. Getting even close to the first few results can bring about a massive boost in online traffic and genuine queries for service businesses that thrive on getting queries from the targeted demographic.

LinkDaddy provides the type of long-term collaboration that a business owner might seek to establish the website in the top tier of organic search results for a pool of keywords. The digital agency offers competitive packages that should be relevant for smaller businesses as well as medium-sized enterprises.

Many businesses thrive due to the local catchment where neighborhoods, communities, and nearby locations call upon them. Typical examples include dentists and plumbers. Such local businesses need more backlinks from genuine online directories that help their business details, like a phone number or email ID, to appear in local searches. Google's consumer insight reports indicate that people making local searches tend to follow up with a high-intent query or might even visit the store. LinkDaddy's backlinking strategy includes the use of local directories, blogs, newsrooms, and content distribution networks that create more visibility across local search results.
