The mortuary equipment market consists of sales of mortuary equipment by entities (organizations, sole traders, and partnerships) that are used for the preservation, moving, and storage of deceased bodies. Mortuary equipment includes instruments and materials used in morgues and mortuaries to preserve dead bodies until they are transferred to a cemetery or funeral home, as well as cadavers for study and education.

Global Mortuary Equipment Market Trends

Technological advancement is a key trend gaining popularity in the mortuary equipment market. According to the mortuary equipment market overview, technological advancements made funeral planning more accessible and more flexible by providing eco-friendly burials, funeral service webcasting, online obituaries, and headstone technology. Key players are focusing on new technologies to lead the mortuary equipment market. For instance, in September 2020, SEHA, a UAE-based Health Services Company has opened a central mortuary in Al Ain city. The new central mortuary in Al Ain will enable the use of virtual autopsies via innovative 3D virtual radiology technology. The new facility, which was designed innovatively and is outfitted with cutting-edge technology, enables all services linked to deceased bodies to be finished in one area, with authorizations done electronically.
