Platform Converse

I was given the opportunity to buy and review a trending item of my choice! After looking at many different social media platforms, I finally found the perfect item. The Chuck Taylor All Star Lift Platform Canvas shoes caught my eye because of their funky look and ability to fit in with many clothing styles. I debated between white, black and a custom purple, and then decided to go with my first choice of white. The order was placed on Zappos.com and I immediately started counting down the hours for them to arrive. Who knew two day shipping could feel so long? When the delivery was dropped at my doorstep, I eagerly ripped open the packaging!

The first thing I saw was the black box with the white Converse logo on it. Sitting inside were pristine white shoes (I knew they wouldn't stay that way for long) in the perfect size. I struggled a bit to put them on because of the floppy material, but once they were on my feet, I knew they were perfect. The platform sole definitely gave me some height and the hightop part was so different from any other sneakers I own. Now that I knew that I loved their look, I decided to test their comfort and see how easy they were to move in. I wore them to school one day and to a party the next.
