BLOOMINGTON, IL, UNITED STATES, May 26, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- It's a time to celebrate for Bloomington Foundation Repair Experts as the company ushers in 25 years of outstanding service. The local community couldn't be prouder of this great business that has saved the day on more than one occasion. So how exactly does the team plan on celebrating? By offering its customers another full year of low prices and impeccable work ethic!

"It's hard to believe that we've been in business for 25 years! I couldn't be more grateful to the local community because, without their support, there wouldn't be a Bloomington Foundation Repair Experts", said Jason, owner of the company.

There's definitely a lot to be proud of when it comes to Jason and his team of highly educated and experienced structural engineers. Not everyone can perform foundation repair in Bloomington, IN. It's essential that each contractor continue their education and keeps licensing up-to-date. Mr. Perin wouldn't have it any other way.

"I can remember the time when my foundation was sinking into the ground due to soil erosion. My house actually looked crooked from the street. There were all sorts of problems developing. Even my windows and doors wouldn't operate correctly! I knew something needed to be done ASAP. So I called Jason. He and his crew came out and scheduled me for house leveling services. Best decision I've ever made as a homeowner. Jason and his team deserve the biggest celebration for 25 years of reliable foundation repair service", said Rodney, a happy customer.

Over the years, the cost of foundation repair has seemed to increase due to inflation and the rising price of materials. However, Bloomington Foundation Repair Experts has managed to keep its rates on the low side. The company finds unique ways to high-quality source materials for affordable prices. They then pass the savings on to their customers.

Another company characteristic that not many other fellow foundation workers share is 24-hour emergency service. When a customer calls on a holiday or weekend with a detrimental foundation problem, the team drops everything to assist them.

The owner elaborates, "We don't want to see anyone's safety at risk. If a foundation shows signs of collapse or other emergent issues, we'll answer the call of duty right away. It's just how we do things."

Some of the services that the company has offered over the last 25 years include crack and leak repair of concrete slab foundations, house leveling and slab jacking, basement waterproofing, crawl space care, and pier & beam repair.

All foundation repair in Bloomington is available for residential and commercial properties. The structural engineers typically go before the contractors to conduct a thorough inspection of the foundation to determine the underlying cause of the damages. From there, the customer will get a clear and concise repair plan with a fair estimate. All inspections and appraisals are entirely free of charge to the customer.

Jason and his staff want to invite all existing customers and potential customers to stop by the office to celebrate a quarter of a century of foundation repair services with them. Not only will it be a time to get to know the contractors a little bit better, but customers can also ask questions about methods, materials, and equipment.

"We're thrilled to be still in business after all of these years and to have the support of our community behind us. Thank you from the bottom of our heart" - Jason and staff.
