

Trading Expert G. Allan Collins Opens the Door to Swing Trading and Shares His Knowledge Through Money Magicians

NEW YORK CITY, NEW YORK, UNITED STATES, June 2, 2022

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Since January 2022, the S&P 500, an index tracking the performance of 500 large companies listed on the American stock exchange, dropped by 18%. The NASDAQ followed suit and is now down by 26%. This sudden change in a relatively secure asset resulted in a loss of approximately 12 trillion dollars for its investors.

Today's volatile market leaves little room for a "buy-and-hold" investment strategy. The market's erratic up and down swings have caused concern among millions of long-term investors and they are starting to realize that maybe they need to consider another strategy – sooner rather than later.
