

Patient Registry Software Market by Key players and Vendors: IQVIA Holdings, Inc., McKesson Corporation, Optum, Premier

Patient Registry Software Market Trends – increase in application of patient registry data for real-world evidence and post-marketing observation.

VANCOUVER, BC, CANADA, May 26, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The global patient registry software market is forecast to reach a value of USD 2.96 Billion by 2027; according to the latest analysis by Emergen Research. The high projected value at the end of the seven-year forecast period can be attributed to the escalating demand for the development and deployment of more specialized and advanced treatments and technologies in the global patient registry software market. The growth of the global patient registry software market is projected to further accelerate owing to the increasing application of Electronic Health Records (EHRs) in the global healthcare sector. The application and use of patient registry data for real-world evidence and post-marketing observation have been increasing over the past decade and is expected to continue the trend and drive market growth during the forecast period.

Key Highlights From The Report

The commercial database segment is expected to maintain its lead in terms of the largest market

share over the forecast period.

The disease registry segment is expected to also remain dominant in terms of revenue share in the patient registry software market.

Increasing government initiatives to introduce value-based care in healthcare facilities is supporting the growth of the population health management segment.

The standalone segment is expected to account for significant revenue share going forward, as standalone patient registry software is a portable software that can work without operating systems being installed.

The government & third-party segment is expected to account for a comparatively high revenue share in the overall market during the forecast period due to the growing use of patient registry software in government organizations to treat patients with chronic diseases, provide value-based care, and decrease healthcare burden.

These government initiatives are especially being pursued more actively in countries in North America.
