The goal of the OTRP book series is to teach valuable life lessons through basketball. Book Three follows Shai on his third day of basketball camp with his friends Jayden, Jordan, and Jasmine.

At camp, he learns basketball skills, makes new friends and joins the other kids as they learn life-lessons, such as the importance of eating healthy and growing strong. Just like the other On The Right Path books, this is sure to become a beloved story for parents and children alike.

"We created the On The Right Path book series to introduce children to the six life-skill pillars that support a healthy life," said Gunning. "The life-skill pillars are loving others, being unselfish, staying healthy & strong, showing respect, showing forgiveness, and having fun."
