

Sonablate Corp. Receives NMPA Approval in China to treat Benign Prostatic Hyperplasia (BPH)

CHARLOTTE, NC, USA, June 2, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Sonablate Corp., a world leader in minimally invasive focused ultrasound technologies, announces expanded regulatory approval from the National Medical Products Administration (NMPA) to treat Benign Prostatic Hyperplasia (BPH).

This new expanded approval from the NMPA will allow physicians to treat millions of patients suffering from BPH and/or Prostate Cancer."

Sonablate Corp.*

The Sonablate device has been approved in China since July 2020 to treat local, low- and medium-risk prostate cancer and is now also approved to treat Benign Prostatic Hyperplasia.

BPH is a common condition that affects millions of men worldwide. BPH can cause bothersome urinary symptoms such as frequent or urgent need to urinate, weak urination stream, and difficulty starting or stopping urination.

Richard Yang, Chief Executive Officer of Sonablate Corp. said, "Between our current sites already equipped with the Sonablate device and our expansion plans in China that are currently underway, this new expanded approval from the NMPA will allow physicians to treat millions of patients suffering from BPH and/or Prostate Cancer."
