announced today that its product, EverTears®, the world's first combination self-heating eye compress and pre-moistened cleaning pad, has expanded its availability with doctors focused on dry eye syndrome treatment.

Ben Nobles, co-founder of ThermaMEDx and former senior executive with optical industry giant Alcon, said more than 400 doctors focused on dry eye disease/syndrome have registered on the company's locator after only six months.

"We greatly appreciate the hundreds of doctors who have signed on over the past few months to help establish EverTears® as the best MGD and dry eye treatment," Nobles said.

EverTears® is designed to provide a convenient, affordable OTC dry eye solution that delivers the precise, controlled heat and eyelid cleaning found in several in-office treatments. EverTears® leverages patented technology developed by ThermaMEDx co-founder Dr. Michel Guillon, to not only provide relief from dry eye symptoms, but also help restore the eyes' natural tear film when used as directed. EverTears® instant heating and cleaning pads are individually wrapped so they can be used anywhere relief is needed and only takes minutes a day.

EverTears® is now available for purchase or recommended by:

- Brilliant Eyes (Georgia)
- Mann Eye Institute (Texas)
