

A Great Valuation Helps AI Exosphere Submit An Application To Swim With Sharks For Satellite Writer Mobile Application

Satellite Writer beta results are good. AI Exosphere is working towards raising seed capital, the mobile app is almost complete, valuation is in, and it's great

ORLANDO, FLORIDA, UNITED STATES, June 6, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- In the first week of Satellite Writer's beta run, it has been able to keep users engaged for an average of seven minutes. This number is surprisingly high as YouTube users spend an average of 11m 24s a day on its super-successful platform.

Satellite Writer Submits To Shark Tank

YouTube boasts of 2 billion monthly active users, and they watch over 5 billion videos daily - that is about 1 billion hours of video every day. It is one of the most significant search engines and is only second to Google as the most visited website globally. The majority of YouTube visits come from mobile (70%), and its largest market is the US (14.8%) (Source: Hootsuite)

No stone left unturned!"
Alex Athey, CTO of AI Exosphere.

The team has made great progress in developing their mobile app for iOS and Android to support the large amounts of mobile users in the beta.

"For complete inclusion, access, and scalability, we must bring the technology to where users are most." -said Sal Peer, CEO of AI Exosphere

Because of the tremendous progress made, the company decided to start its seed round ahead of its public launch. With a solid $6-10 million valuation, the team feels confident raising the much-needed capital to properly bring Satellite Writer to the mainstream public.

At RISE Team day, Alex Athey, CTO of AI Exosphere, announced that the company had submitted grants with the NSF, filed for NVIDIA Capital Connect through the NVIDIA Inception program, and even applied to be on Shark Tank for Season 14.

"No stone left unturned!" said Alex Athey, CTO of AI Exosphere.

It seems like a bright future for the founders, but only time will tell.
