Kaufman re-cast himself as a wrestler in the early 1980's. Kaufman's sold-out wrestling matches in the mid-South Professional Wrestling scene in Tennessee became legendary. His "feud" with wrestler Jerry 'The King' Lawler made national headlines when Lawler actually slapped Kaufman on the David Letterman show.

The legendary genius of Kaufman is considered an inspiration to many generations of comedians, including Jim Carrey who played Kaufman in "Man on the Moon," and even actor Johnny Knoxville ("Jackass") who is currently wrestling in the WWE.

The film "Kaufmania" includes contributions from some of the biggest names from Andy's past, including his rumored alter-ego, singer Tony Clifton, Lawler, former manager George Shapiro, and Reggie Watts. Segments include the rise of an obsessed Andy Kaufman fan, North Hollywood

Hannah Wood (Heather Monroe), a fan of Andy's who finds glory in the professional wrestling world and Wally Wingert ("Invader Zim"), who built a actual shrine to Andy Kaufman in his own living room. DVD copies of the documentary and merchandise will be available for sale

The Dive Motel is located at 1414 Dickerson Pike, Nashville, TN 37207.
