/EINPresswire.com/ -- Equator Advanced Appliances is proud to announce that its CSM 2100 All-In-One Cordless Self-Cleaning Sweeper + Mop has been named a 2022 ADEX Platinum Award winner. This appliance was one of seven Equator products that won the coveted award. The ADEX Platinum Award is the highest title issued by the organization's judges.

"We are beyond excited to announce that our CSM 2100 All-In-One Cordless Self-Cleaning Sweeper + Mop was named as a 2022 ADEX Platinum Award winner," said Nick Mathews, of Equator Advanced Appliances. "As a company that is consistently focused on providing the highest quality and most forward-thinking appliances for our customers, this award means everything to us."

What's unique about the CSM 2100 All-In-One Cordless Self-Cleaning Sweeper + Mop is its cordless, lightweight, and sleek design. Weighing in at just five pounds, and equipped with a comfort grip, users do not have to strain or overexert themselves while cleaning dry or wet spills. With one hour of battery time, and a convenient charging dock, there's never worry over cords and replacement batteries. Operating at a whisper-quiet 30dB, clean at any time without waking the kids.

Other notable features include its swiveling powerhead, one button self-clean function, and easy-to-assemble design.

For those who are unfamiliar with ADEX (Award for Design Excellence), the organization runs the largest and most well-respected product design and architecture competition in the world. Nominated products have the chance to win platinum (the highest award), gold, or silver distinctions in their specific categories. Points are awarded by an expert panel of judges, which determines the product's final score. Minimum scores are required in order to be considered for each award level. Every April, winners are announced in Design Publications.

Approximately 3,000 industry professionals are part of the ADEX Global Advisory Board. Operating since 1995, thousands of companies have entered design projects, furnishings, building materials, and other consumer products. Only the best in show receive one of the three ADEX titles.

Other Equator models that took home the ADEX Platinum Award include the 5500 CV Super Combo Washer/Dryer (in white), the PFF07 Portable Fridge-Freezer, and the Conserv Tall Slim Refrigerator.
