Hornet Homes introduces Boss Rooms as the most efficient, versatile, and practical solution for residential home expansion.

RALEIGH, NORTH CAROLINA , UNITED STATES, June 7, 2022

/EINPresswire.com/ -- The national housing shortage has caused residential properties to reach record high prices in the United States. The cost of renovations for existing homes is also continuing to rise due to the cost of materials, services, and ongoing shipping delays. These issues have created a difficult situation for current homeowners who are in need of additional space.

Investing in a detached addition to a residential home is the most practical and cost-efficient solution for home expansion needs. Additional dwelling units (ADUs), also called tiny homes, are an affordable option for creating additional living space on existing residential properties. ADUs also increase the value of an existing property.

The home building experts at Hornet Homes are excited to introduce Boss Rooms as the ADU industry leader in residential home expansion. Hornet Homes is well-known throughout North Carolina communities for building high-quality properties and providing exceptional buying experiences.
