

3 top streaming media platforms in the United States

This article introduces 3 main streaming platforms in the United States.

BUFFALO, NEW YORK, UNITED STATES, June 16, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- 1. Netflix

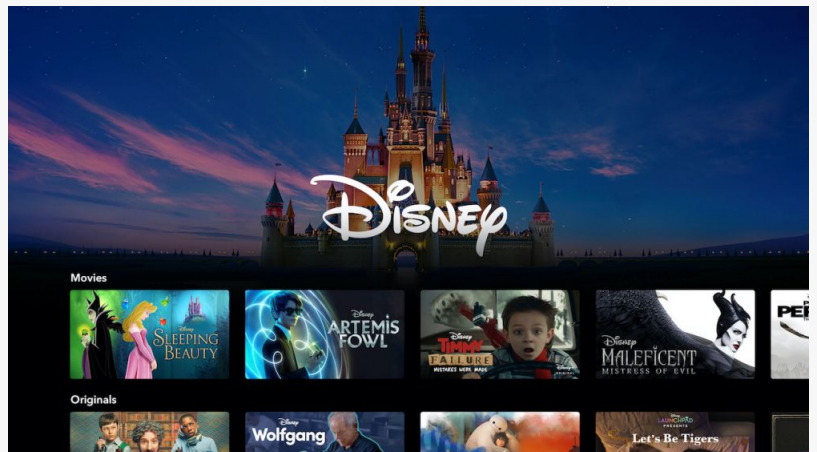

Netflix was founded in 1997 as a membership-based disc rental (Netflix still offers DVD rentals). After more than 20 years of growth, it has now become the world's largest membership streaming company. Netflix began to launch its own original TV series in 2013. The first one was the global hit "House of Cards", and then the Netflix Originals series of various original movies and American TV series were also well received. Netflix carries a ton of shows, movies, and original content. Simply put, Netflix is the streaming champ, offering the highest "quality" of TV shows and movies of all streaming.

Netflix membership is divided into three levels, the monthly fee is $8.99/$12.99/$15.99 from low to high. Members can watch whenever and wherever they want on virtually any internet-connected device. And there are no advertisements to disturb, no binding contract.

Price: Basic - $8.99/mo, Standard - $13.99/mo, Premium - $17.99/mo

2. Disney+

Disney+ is an American on-demand video-on-demand streaming service owned and operated by the media and entertainment distribution division of The Walt Disney Company. In terms of content, it's lacking compared to most of its main competitors.

Right now, the main draw of Disney+ is its vast library of Disney, Pixar, Marvel, National Geographic, and Star Wars content. These include classic Disney animated films like The Little Mermaid and The Lion King, Pixar hits like The Incredibles 2 and Wall-E, the entire Skywalker saga, and most MCU movies. In addition, Disney+ has a slew of Fox content, including the first 30 seasons of The Simpsons, as well as films like "Alone" and "Sandlot."

Disney+ membership is not tiered, the monthly fee is $7.99 (the annual price is $79.99), and the membership can be cancelled at any time by paying the monthly fee. Another membership offered by Disney+ is $12.99/month for Hulu (with ads) and ESPN+. Disney Plus has a narrator function on the TV, people who don't like it may want to know how to turn off narrator on Disney Plus.

HBO Now, the streaming platform launched by HBO TV, has attracted a large number of users after the "Game of Thrones" fire. In May 2020, HBO launched a new streaming media platform, HBO Max, in addition to the original HBO-produced albums and talk shows, as well as the classic American TV series Friends, The Big Bang Theory, etc. Compared to Hulu, Disney Plus, and Apple TV Plus, HBO Max has more movies in total. It also has some top exclusive shows, including Game of Thrones and more.
