The song was written, performed, produced, mixed, and mastered by

New York rapper Boy Pierce. In 2021, Boy Pierce took a sudden last-minute 10-week trip to the western side of the United States. During this trip, the rapper stayed in seven different Airbnb locations along the way. The talented musician was working remotely for an East Coast advertising agency and was able to see the local sites and then decided to make music out of the experience. He started writing reviews for the different locations he stayed in and was inspired to write one of those reviews in song form. The song lyrics are written as a review with creative rhyming such as, "Natural light and it captures the brightness, heightened rooftop the nicest." The cinematic music video was directed, shot, and edited by Louise Lau from Offstage Tunes, who has also worked with other amazing artists.

I was writing Airbnb reviews for every rental, and I wanted to create one review in musical form, for a downtown LA loft. This is the result!”

"Airbnb Review" is the first single released from his upcoming album "Out of Office," which is set to premiere on July 22 of this year.
