Aequor co-CEO Manmeet Viridi

“Companies need to authentically represent their brand to job-seekers,” said Eric Rubino, Energage CEO. “The employee experience needs to be on the mission-critical list. Leaders who embrace a people-first culture will benefit greatly. By giving employees a voice and showcasing your authentic culture through employer branding, organizations can attract those job seekers who complement their culture. Culture drives performance.”

“We are very excited about this award,” said Kamal Viridi, who, along with his brother, Manmeet, serves as chief executive officer of the company. “It speaks volumes about how, in this current environment especially, we were able to communicate with our employees and maintain the same amount of organization to deliver the highest quality services to our customers. Our employees were very clear on the company’s vision and mission and were able to deliver that to our clients.”

Headquartered in Piscataway, New Jersey, Aequor prides itself on its culture of connection and community. “What I felt kept us together is Aequor’s core values,” said co-CEO Manmeet Viridi.

“Teamwork, motivation, success and a positive culture were seen as strengths. The survey results also showed how flexible our teams are and how quickly they adapted from in-person to remote work.”

With a dedication to inspiring people and empowering growth, Aequor is honored to be recognized by Top Workplaces NJ 2019-2022. “We call Aequor an extended family,” Manmeet Viridi said. “We promote diversity and recognition within the group. Teamwork is rooted at the highest level to help our employees succeed.”
