Market Scenario of Global Nitrogenous Fertilizer Market

Data Bridge Market Research analyses that the nitrogenous fertilizer market will project a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 5.3% during the forecast period of 2022-2029. Nitrogen fertilizer is one of the most prevalent types of fertilizer, manufactured from nitrogen (N) compounds and used as an addition in the farming sector to boost crop yield. They're commonly employed in soil, fertigation, foliar, and other applications.

The rising farmer knowledge of soil profile and nutritional balance, expanding popularity of commercial agriculture around the world coupled with low cost production of fertilizers and rising demand for agrochemicals are some of the reasons that are expected to boost the nitrogenous fertilizer market. Furthermore, upsurge in the need to increase productivity and to level yield and fertilizer intensity gaps across the nations will cushion the market's growth rate.
