

Doug Stephan's Good Day Returns with Move to USA Radio Networks; Absorbs Daybreak Program and Affiliates

LOS ANGELES, CA, UNITED STATES, June 29, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The DJV Show, hosted by Doug Stephan, has joined the USA Radio Network. The move returns the program to its original name "Good Day" and merges the show with USA's program "Daybreak." The show that Stephan first launched in 1988 will continue to air in the morning and remains designed to time-shift to other dayparts. Stephan is the longest-running syndicated host of a daily talk show.

Stephan said "We've been hearing from some of our more than 300 affiliates of their frustration with how negative many news/talk programs have become. This move enables us to continue to present the news you need to know, along with our opinions in addition to the positives that we see every day."

USA Radio Network President Chip Miller added "I'm excited to welcome Doug and Good Day to the USA Radio Network family. Doug's is an iconic fixture in morning radio throughout the country and we look forward to working with Doug and The Good Day Team. The lifestyle, and non-political content that Good Day offers, is something that we feel more stations will welcome during a time when there is so much going on in the world and in our society. Doug and Good Day will serve as the cornerstone for an exciting growth plan for the network and is our first programming change and show addition since acquiring the network in December of 2021. "

Doug Stephan's Good Day, with Co-Host Jai Kershner, relaunches officially on June 13th.

No change in clocks, technical, traffic, or sales partners. The affiliation will be handled by USA Radio Network.
