

Motoby, the New, Tech-Driven Used Car Marketplace Puts the Control & the Money Back into the Hands of Real People

HORSHAM, PA, UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, June 27, 2022

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Motoby, the tech-driven used car marketplace built for people who want to enjoy – and succeed – buying and selling cars again, flips the script on an antiquated business model in the auto industry that has frustrated individual consumers for generations.

Simply put, Motoby harnesses the power of disruptive technology with the aim to give sellers more money when they sell their car and save buyers more money when they buy their car.

Launching next month, Motoby gives used car buyers and sellers more value and control than they can get anywhere else, with more information so that consumers make their own best decisions. Motoby provides free resources including “how to” tutorials and vehicle research tools so that consumers know what they should be considering and what to expect.

Both buyers and sellers find all the services they need to successfully complete a transaction with Motoby, with the ultimate result, a pair of empowered consumers performing a safe, fast, secure and completely transparent transaction.

For those who want to sell a vehicle – and eliminate the uncertainties – Motoby offers two
