Installation view of the exhibition Painting in Excess: Kyiv's Art revival, 1985-1993, Carole A. Fewell Gallery, Coral Gables Museum, May 13th – December 11th, 2022.

This edition's programming includes a conversation with Israeli-born Miamian artist Zammy Migdal on the occasion of his solo show at the Anthony R. Abraham Family Gallery. It will be moderated by Coral Gables Museum's Director of Exhibitions, Yuneikys Villalonga. Join us to hear

My girlfriends and I do not miss Gallery Night. The Museum is the place to be on a Friday night. They always have something interesting going on besides the shows. I love it!”

Mirna Beletti

Migdal reveal interesting aspects of his artmaking process while his gallerist, Tamar Erdberg, who has accompanied him from the beginning of his career, will share highlights of their exhibitions and trajectory together. Learn more about this event here.

“This exhibition has been an opportunity to present other edges in the work of Zammy Migdal; not only as a painter (we knew him mostly as a sculptor) but also as a storyteller. The pieces in the show are filled with intriguing autobiographical details. They reveal the person behind the artist.” said Villalonga. “This talk will be an opportunity to hear other stories of Migdal and bring colors to the show.”

In the Community Meeting Room, this month's featured local music band Purpleberry Jam will be performing a combination of covers & originals; paying homage to the past through their blend of Funk, Rock, Rhythm & Blues while infusing modern flavors.

"It's always a pleasure to engage with the community here on Gallery Night. We love being a part of the celebration of art, music, and history!" says lead bassist and singer Julian Rodriguez.

Recent publications, posters, tote bags, apparel items, and souvenirs from the Museum's gift shop will be available for sale at the reception desk. They are also available through the Museum's online gift shop. Become a member to support the museum's programs and exhibitions and obtain a 10% discount on all gift shop items.
