Systems, Inc. (Door Systems), a residential and commercial door installation and repair company and part of global industry leader ASSA ABLOY, announces a special giveaway to celebrate its hometown.

The Charlotte-based company is giving away a free overhead door to a deserving nonprofit organization, as well as a free garage door to one lucky homeowner in the Queen City area. Door Systems will accept nominations from members of the public through July 31, 2022.

“We wanted to do something special for the people who make Charlotte such a special hometown for our company,” said Door Systems Marketing Manager Amanda McDonald. “Realizing that many nonprofits in the area serve as collection points for food, clothing, bedding, furniture, and more, we thought they might benefit from a new door to keep these items safe and secure, spending that infrastructure money on serving the community.”

“We also want the focus of the public’s individual homeowner nominations to be on those among us who make Charlotte a better place to live and work,” added Marketing Manager Jessica Paz. “In that spirit, we’re looking to honor that person known to volunteer, serve others in their neighborhood, or a veteran who inspires us all.”
