Philanthropic Pharmapreneur & Academic Researcher (Prof) Dr. Kannan Vishwanath to partner with NGO's for Healthcare Intervention to the poor, weak & needy.

CALIFORNIA, CALIFORNIA, UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, July 2, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Rupus Global Limited Managing Director (Prof) Dr. Kannan Vishwanath announced that there is an urgent need to take appropriate measures to ensure healthcare delivery at Riga in the sideline of Economic Forum organized by Academy of sciences Latvia. (Prof) Dr. Kannan Vishwanath emphasized that “public private partnerships are key to a sound & efficient healthcare access & affordability. Rupus Global Limited will be forging & partnering with key NGO's in the healthcare domain. We have identified some of the best foundations to take healthcare to the rural areas which are often neglected”.

Safe water supplies, sewage treatment and disposal, improved food safety, and vaccination programs are urgently needed in resource-poor nations. A major barrier to achieving these improvements is the underlying weakness of public health systems in resource-poor countries, including a shortage of health care workers, which hinders efforts to immunize, treat, and monitor the status of patients. To address this concern, a strong public health infrastructure achieved through leadership at the country level is needed. Activities promoted by leaders include developing strategies for improving health literacy, which can be achieved by providing educational opportunities to local health care professionals. Poor nations also lack disease surveillance programs and up-to-date laboratories, which are essential to the mission of finding, diagnosing, and containing infectious diseases.

Many factors influence whether poor nations can obtain affordable drugs of good quality. Most drug research and development is not geared toward the needs of people in poor countries because they are not a big market. As a result, a large percentage of the money spent worldwide on health care research is dedicated to problems affecting a small percentage of the world's population. Social and political challenges to the distribution of medicines are factors as well. Foundations, pharmaceutical companies, and other organizations are making efforts to overcome these challenges by providing funding, research, and donations of medications. The tragedy of global infectious disease is not only that so many lives are lost or damaged, but that so many of these infections could be prevented or treated effectively with low-cost drugs.
