BeVeg Vegan certification encompasses both food and non-food, and is the ONLY accredited quality assurance Vegan program on the planet in accordance with ISO 17065 and 17067. BeVeg conducts on-site audits in close to 200 countries to ensure compliance to animal allergen controls, standard operating procedures, and Vegan integrity. BeVeg eliminates consumer confusion by going into the manufacturing facilities and ensuring there is no error of process that would cause expensive product recalls for Vegan certified by BeVeg products.

BeVeg World's the only accredited Vegan Trademark sets the global benchmark for Vegan claims.

“Undeclared animal allergens are a major concern on Vegan products since the expectant consumer believes Vegan to mean ‘free-from animal material.’ BeVeg clears up the consumer confusion and delivers a product that is meaningful, pure and in line with what the expectant consumer would assume it to mean,” says Carissa Kranz, Esq., BeVeg CEO. “BeVeg is a standard that considers consumer safety and public health. It is time shared facilities can be considered certified Vegan, just like they can carry gluten-free certifications. The only difference is, right now, facilities take gluten contamination seriously and have audits and procedures in place to ensure product quality assurance and there is a lack of such assurances for Vegan. Such lack is solved with BeVeg,” says attorney Kranz.

The Prestige Guide will be available to over 500,000 subscribers and the official awards ceremony will be held in New York City at the Lexington Hotel in September 2022. BeVeg founder and CEO, Carissa Kranz, esq. will be there to accept the honor.
