At the same time, the EurAsia Heart Foundation will support with the provision of human resources, equipment for the hospital and all the medical support. Meanwhile, the MBC Construction Company, based in Kabul Afghanistan, will provide the 13-storey building that it owns in Kabul City located in Bagh-e-bala, opposite Intercontinental Hotel; and the MgtWell Consulting Services, also based in Kabul, will work in collaboration with The Abrahamic Business Circle to develop the business and investment model for the hospital project and will undertake the management and operational functions of the hospital.

An important part of this effort is to enhance the steadily progressing healthcare system in Afghanistan. This hospital will be built at Bagh-e-bala Road opposite of Intercontinental Hotel in Kabul City.

The Abrahamic Business Circle is an epitome of walk the talk, making things happen in a longer term and bigger scale in an institutional level.

In line with its support, the President of the EurAsia Heart Foundation Dr. Paul Vogt and his team are scheduled to visit the site in Kabul City at the end of July this year.
