WASHINGTON, D.C., USA, July 5, 2022

/EINPresswire.com/ -- “Moms Don’t Want Welfare—They Want

WEALTHFAIR” is the mantra of the public housing tenant led non-profit. The “One Million Moms OFF Welfare” is an initiative run and operated by former and/or current mothers who receive some kind of public benefit. Mothers from across the nation are signing up to the cause, as they are fed up with the punitive rules and entitlement programs provided to millions of families living at or below poverty, which is structured in a way that keeps them trapped in a cycle of dependence.

INALIENABLE RIGHTS FOR ALL

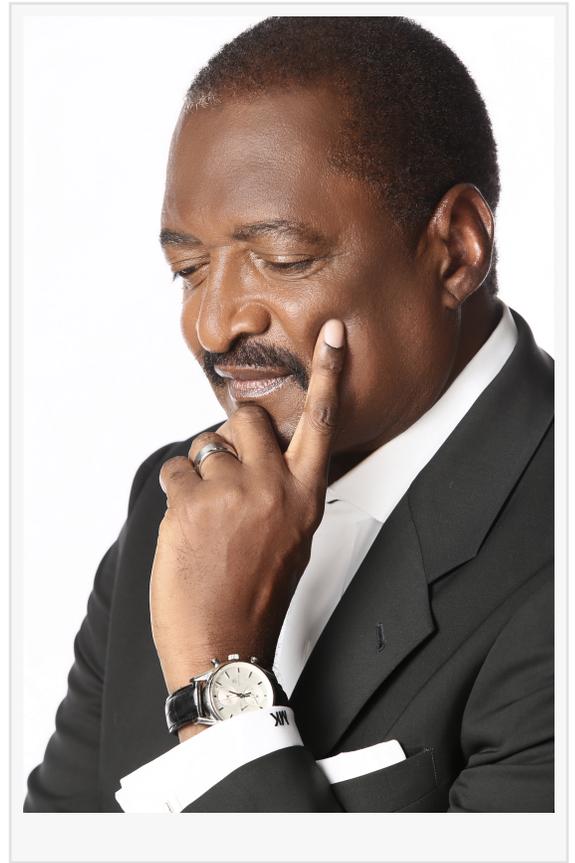

RW Jones, also known as “The Welfare Escape Artist, teaches low-income families how to protect and grow their income, while receiving various social services benefits (i.e., Subsidized Housing, SNAP, Medicaid, etc.). Jones spearheads the organization’s program development and is closing the gaps in poverty and raising the bar for social services programs. Jones’ mission extends with all resources possible and available to achieve realistic change for each family.

“Our mission is to advance affordable housing, economic inclusion, and personal responsibility through advocacy, community and civic engagement, and education. We believe that all Americans are created equal and possessed of inalienable rights to life, liberty, the pursuit of happiness and to justice under the law.” – Jones

CIL believes that all Americans are created equal and possess the inalienable rights to life, liberty, the pursuit of happiness—and justice under the law.

“The ultimate mission is to provide a proven, repeatable blueprint to breaking free from government dependency in order to start building a sustainable lifestyle of freedom and independence.” – Jones

If not stopped, this vicious cycle of poverty will continue for generations to come. Criminal activity induced by poverty will rise, mental health depression will increase, and toxic and strained relationships will remain stagnant—which means teenage pregnancy, single-parent households, fatherless homes, juvenile delinquency, mass incarceration, and more.

RW Jones

CATCH 22 OF WELFARE DEPENDENCY

Mothers are oftentimes stuck in an endless cycle of welfare dependency because of the construct of the program itself. If a mother decides to quit her job, stay home and remain unemployed, she will then receive FREE housing, healthcare benefits, food, formula for her babies, and in most cases, cash assistance. However, if she pokes her head out to chart her course of independence, she and her children are forced to walk the plank alone with no support.

When a mom returns to the workforce, she is immediately penalized with evidence of her completely losing her healthcare (Medicare) benefits, being reduced in her food stamps (SNAP) benefits and her experiencing drastic increases in rent and other programs such as child care.

What’s more—the practice of separating fathers from their families in exchange for various welfare benefits (i.e., public housing subsidies, etc.) is something that dates back to the 1930’s, and in many cases, are still practiced today. For example, in the state of Virginia, a mother cannot receive child care subsidies unless they place the father on child support--regardless if the father is in the picture providing support for the child/children.

FREE VIRTUAL WEBINAR, FEATURING
MATHEW KNOWLES, PH.D.

Hosted in Partnership with Bay Atlantic University (BAU), CIL's Education Partner grants conditional acceptance for students who complete CIL's certificate programs! The goal of the FREE virtual webinar series is to promote powerful stories of influential people that inspire and equip low-income families with the tools they need to remove barriers impeding their progress as well as encourage the business community to step-up in meaningful ways to help businesses and families grow.

Mathew Knowles, Ph.D. joins the nonprofit in their goal to move "One Million Moms OFF Welfare." On July 8th, at 12pm EST, he will be featured as one of the first guests in the non-profit "Lunch and Lessons Learned" series to help bolster support for their cause and attract employers who will partner with their programs.

Jones and her team of moms have embarked on a nationwide tour, The WEALTHFair Tour, starting in the nation's capital, to offer both a message of hope and inspiration to families as well as a road map with a blueprint toward financial freedom and independence—free from welfare entitlements, dependency and mental deterioration. She has uncovered the loopholes to help families navigate the system in a way that protects their risk for economic failure.

Jones is raising the bar in how families are served, engaged and enrolled into niche programs.

CAN & LIVE BRINGING OPPORTUNITY HOME

The WEALTHFAIR Tour powered by RADAR

FEDERAL OPPORTUNITIES

The WEALTHFAIR Tour is a “National Scavenger Hunt” to locate the $18.9 billion in federal opportunities for low-income people through HUD’s Section 3 program. Over the course of this three-year WEALTHFAIR Tour, they will visit the poorest public housing communities in 300 of America’s most prosperous cities. Ultimately, the Tour centers on Reigniting Family Self-Sufficiency (FSS) Programs, Establishing & Re-establishing New Resident Councils and Advocating for Policy Change.

“If we can put a man on the moon, certainly we can eliminate poverty!” - RW Jones

Powered by RADAR, the engine behind the tour aims to strengthen and equip resident councils with the necessary skills required to represent the interest of their respective communities. The RADAR Program encompasses the understanding of HUD regulations, and how they apply to help community leaders access grant funding, fundraise, conduct effective meetings, resolve conflicts as well as negotiate an equity stake in their upcoming redevelopment deals. With current federal housing being privatized, and low-income residents being displaced by large numbers, this initiative is more than timely.
