What is FLDB?

The organization will offer a platform so that independent contractors can serve clients all across the world. In the near future, tokens will be heavily utilized on the website as money.

The way FLDB works is by letting customers pay up front for "gigs," which may be any kind of freelancing work like web design, social media marketing, or copywriting.

What is tokenization?

The practice of issuing tokens for businesses, people, or other predetermined uses is known as tokenization. Tokens can be used as securities, money for payments, or as a measure of debt or credit.

According to technical studies, tokenization might be the next great revolution after the development of the internet. Tokens give businesses a variety of options for conducting
