

ThermaMEDx Launches EverTears® Subscription Plan

An industry leader in treating Meibomian Gland Dysfunction and dry eye syndrome now has a subscription plan.

ATLANTA, GEORGIA, UNITED STATES, July 7, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Representatives with ThermaMEDx

announced today that its product EverTears®, the world's first combined self-heating eye compress and pre-moistened cleaning pad to combat dry eye syndrome, has launched a subscription plan to better support the needs of customers dealing with the chronic condition.

In addition to finding the product at a growing number of eye care centers, anyone seeking dry eye relief can purchase a single box of EverTears® for $42 or subscribe and save $2/box. The company also offers free shipping if you order 2+ boxes.

Ben Nobles, co-founder of ThermaMEDx and former senior executive with optical industry giant Alcon, shared that EverTears® is designed to provide a convenient, affordable, OTC dry eye solution that delivers the precise, controlled heat and eyelid cleaning solution found in several in-office treatments.

EverTears® leverages patented technology developed by ThermaMEDx co-founder Dr. Michel Guillon to not only provide relief from dry eye symptoms, but also to help retain the eyes' natural tear moisture when used as directed.

For best results, doctors recommend using EverTears® twice per day for the first week or two depending on symptom severity, and then continuing treatment once per day.

The launch of the subscription plan comes on the heels of the product recently being reviewed by Dr. Pam Theriot in the Independent Strong. She listed EverTears® as an effective product to offer patients to use at home and noted that EverTears® is "A sterile eyelid-cleaning pad with a thermal component that stays at over 108 degrees for more than six minutes. The pads work to unblock eyelid glands, restore oil flow, and retain the natural tear layer. The moist heat melts build-up and opens pores."
