Multi-vendor Portal or Website is a platform for third-party sellers to sell in one place. E-Commerce websites like Amazon or eBay are good examples of multivendor websites where multiple vendors are allowed to register on a single platform with the same shopping cart and sell their products.

Stack Developers Youtube Channel is going to create such a kind of Multivendor website that can handle both B2B and B2C.

Series follows below steps to create Laravel 9 Multi-Vendor E-commerce Website:-

- 1) The vendors register with the website through paid or even free registration.
- 2) Once the vendor registers and uploads his products, the customers can start purchasing from them.
- 3) Owner of the multi-vendor website can charge a small fee from the vendors on each transaction.
- 4) Most of the payments are transferred to the website owner, and from there to the vendor chosen.
- 5) Product delivery is handled by the vendor itself or even the admin.
- 6) Communication on faulty products can be conveyed to the vendor or even the store admin, which the seller handles.
