ABOUT

A Hip-Hop collective like no other, promising artists Scott Brothers began making music in the late 90's, around 1998-1999. Drawing inspiration from the raw and ingenious talent of neighborhood 'homies', the group was enthused to bring the Hip Hop genre back to its roots with a fresh breath of originality. Scott Brothers started out doing Rap battles, trying their hand at Rap music.

The dynamic artists began going to the studio to learn the algorithm of writing and recording music from an early age, a crucial experience that helped them head start their professional ventures. Coupled with their seasoned primary engineer and producer, D.B.C., who was a part of old-school, Hip-Hop band Stetsasonic, the Scott Brothers learnt measurements, delivery, punchins, and all other varied elements that form the basis of recording music. With their groundbreaking yet resonant new EP, the group is aspiring for new heights.
