“We are looking forward to this merge; it will provide our clients with competent advisory in all tax and accounting areas, both in the United States and in Brazil,” said Nelson Slosbergas, a partner of NS Consulting and a lawyer with more than 36 years of experience in real estate and corporate transactional work.

One of the individuals in charge of the negotiation, Michel de Amorim, a partner of Drummond Advisors, explained that the history and expertise of NS Consulting were crucial to making the acquisition decision.

“This new acquisition will strengthen our presence in the offshore and real estate investment markets,” Amorim said. “We are very happy and thankful for the over 30 years of experience earned by Dr. Nelson Slosbergas in this endeavor.”

The acquisition is part of Drummond’s growth strategy.

“The goal is to keep improving our business model, which is unique compared to the one usually seen in the market,” said Bruno Drummond, partner and founder of Drummond Advisors. “We work with the concept of ‘one-stop shop’ service, so client’s needs are met in only one place.”
