

Sales and Business Coach Caroline Doyle to be Featured on Close Up Radio

MONTREAL, QUEBEC, CANADA, July 15, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Caroline Doyle is a French Canadian who obtained degrees as an MBA, a Lawyer, and a Financial Advisor, and achieved record success in that last industry. After a few life and career shifts, Caroline launched her own business in 2020 as a sales mindset and business coach. Caroline rapidly rose to the Top One Percent of coaches around the world.

"The drive, the winning spirit, yes, they are things some people are born with. But there are also things that can be taught. People have to understand it's not just about making money. They have to dig deep and ask the right questions to get in touch with the why. And they have to identify and keep to goals."

The steps Caroline mentioned are part of the Roadmap to S.U.C.C.E.S.S. formula that she developed and currently is undergoing patent review. Caroline offers clients a package of tools, coaching and strategic thinking to help entrepreneurs, small business owners, and sales professionals (in industries like real estate or insurance) to unlock their potential and get results like double or triple their income.

A winning mindset is a concept Caroline has strong faith in, and something for which she obtained coaching certification in, from Bob Proctor. Her business coaching credentials came from Donald Miller. Caroline's toolbox contains tactics from each of these notable coaches, plus other skills and experiences from her own career successes. Caroline teaches professionals to use all their mindpower, and to be strong in determining where they want to go, and what actions to take next. The two sides of her work--mindset and business success-- are all tied together, and part of her custom Roadmap.

Caroline also offers independent business assessment services and says that a business is a lot like an airplane, with various parts and systems that help it soar. For instance, the cockpit represents leadership, and the twin engines are like sales and marketing. Employees are the crew, and they must be kept informed and content. Caroline and her business team will look at all six of the aspects that affect a business' growth, then develop action plans and recommend a more effective marketing strategy.

Caroline is bright, bubbly, and full of confidence, all assets that make her an engaging speaker and a relatable coach. On the welcome page of her website, you'll notice Caroline in a red leather jacket, an outfit that speaks to her fire, her power, and being self-assured. You will understand more of what makes Caroline a great coach and a true winner when you hear her radio show.

Close Up Radio will feature Caroline Doyle in interviews with Doug Llewelyn on Tuesday, July 19th at 12pm Eastern and with Jim Master's on Tuesday July 26th at 12pm Eastern
