Here is what customers say about OpenLM's services:

"We have been using OpenLM license management software for many years with great success. It allows one-click access to see all available licenses. It also enables disconnection of unused licenses and more importantly for us it has a customizable reporting function to audit license use. It is not expensive and the technical support is excellent."
(Philip C Nelson, GIS Manager - Bord na Móna, Ireland)

"We bought OpenLM to monitor the use of our Autodesk and Esri Arcgis floating licenses. Since installing OpenLM we now know exactly who, when, how long, and what everybody is using. We soon discovered the discrepancy between the presumed and effective use of the software. Now we know for sure we don't need to buy more licenses thus saving us a lot of money. From this moment on we also can take educated decisions on organizational changes concerning the use of the software. Why had we not purchased OpenLM sooner?" (Willy Vanelderden, CAD & BIM Manager - Province Limburg, Belgium)

“

We've been successfully using OpenLM for years. It allows easy access to see all available licenses..enables harvesting of unused licenses.. with a customized reporting function to audit license use."

About OpenLM:

OpenLM (www.openlm.com) is among the most trusted global vendors of engineering and specialty software license management solutions (source: Gartner). It provides software license management solutions both on-premise (Product Name: OpenLM Software License Management; old name: OpenLM for Engineering Licensing) and on-cloud (Product Name: Software License Management Cloud; old name: OpenLM Cloud). OpenLM's customers are using its cloud offerings since 2018. Founded in 2007, today OpenLM has more than 1000 global customers. Almost 10% of these customers belong to the 'Fortune 1000' club and 400 of them are from the US.

Currently, OpenLM has its operations across Israel, USA, Europe, Japan, France, Moldova, India, Germany, Austria, and emerging countries like Australia, Malaysia, China, Thailand, LATAM, and others.

Serving across 15+ industries - Aerospace, Automotive, Engineering Services, Defense, Industrial Manufacturing, Healthcare, Semiconductors, Energy, Power & Utility, Gaming, Government, Telecommunication, Mining, Electronics, Construction, and more, OpenLM has an NPS (Net Promoter Score) of 4.6. (Source: OpenLM Customer Satisfaction Survey).

OpenLM Cloud is monitoring, optimizing, and governing both engineering, specialty software licenses, and web-based SaaS applications like Workday, Salesforce, Office 365, Autodesk, Slack, Postman, etc. OpenLM monitors web-based applications with the help of OpenLM Workstation Agent deployment on a user's workstation or standalone node or OpenLM Browser Extension. Thus, improving license utilisation/availability and cutting licensing costs. OpenLM provides multiple pre-built API integrations, such as AutoCAD plugin, etc.

OpenLM Promises

- One global platform to manage licenses
- An improved end-user experience at a minimal cost
- Visibility of the organization's software assets
- Insights to foster data-driven decisions
- Role-based permission system

- Integration with other systems (for example ServiceNow)
- Support for federated SSO
- Monitoring of SaaS or web-based applications

OpenLM's newest addition OneDirectorySync is a central hub connecting an organization's cloud applications and all the resources of digital workspace to a cloud-based synchronization service i. e. to a ONE single primary organization directory so that any changes done here will be automatically replicated to all your SaaS, IaaS, or PaaS (such as Google Analytics, Firebase, Azure AD, GitLab, HubSpot, Freshchat, Salesforce, GitHub, Frontegg, Cloudflare, Buddy, Odoo, Jira, and more), network appliances, routers, and VPNs. Thus, it helps in removing employees no more in the organization and avoiding risks of security, compliance, and costs. OneDirectorySync connects with these primary directories, such as Active Directory, Azure, Novell, ApacheDS, Google Cloud, and Google Workspace.
