"RAVI presents a paradigm shift in body shaping treatments," said Doug Moore, CEO. "RAVI will stimulate fibroblasts, increase the production of collagen and elastin, increase blood flow and increase oxygen. As a result, fat deposits are pressurized and thus loosened to finally eliminate fat through the lymphatic system - tightening the skin and reducing cellulite. "

"We are thrilled to enter the body shaping market with this breakthrough technology, with launch plans for later this month," added Tamera Fairbanks, VP of Business Development.
