

Hygieacare® preferred colonoscopy prep for patients with Crohn's Disease or Colitis (IBD) in "Crohn's and Colitis 360."

The manuscript reporting on 343 successful HygiPrep® procedures on IBD patients was published by "Crohn's and Colitis 360", Oxford University Press.

NORFOLK, VIRGINIA, UNITED STATES, July 19, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- HyGleaCare Inc. announced that the manuscript reporting on HygiPrep procedures performed with great success on 343 IBD patients referred by 65 physicians at four Hygieacare Centers had been published in "Crohn's and Colitis 360, by Oxford University Press.

Colonoscopies provide a crucial diagnostic and surveillance tool for inflammatory bowel disease (IBD). IBD patients undergo repeated and frequent colonoscopies. The oral purgative bowel prep is often burdensome for these patients.

The study results showed that 97% of the patients were adequately prepared for their colonoscopy. Patient satisfaction for HygiPrep was very high, as reflected in post-procedure surveys and open-ended responses as shown in the free text analyses, and there were no serious adverse events.

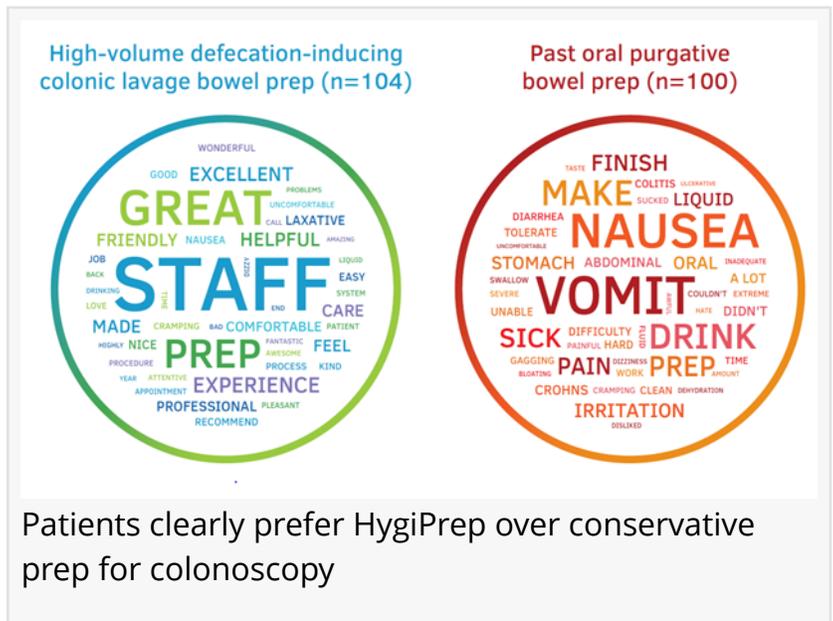

The study confirmed that HygiPrep is safe, effective, and preferred for IBD patients. Patients with IBD now have an alternative to traditional methods for colonoscopy preparation.

The manuscript was submitted by Amit Gajera, MD, Ohio GI & Gastro Health, Cincinnati, OH;

“The "Crohn's and Colitis Foundation" publication highlights that Crohn's Disease or ulcerative colitis patients can significantly benefit from HygiPrep both because of colonic sores and repeat visits,,” said Gavriel (Gabi) Meron, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer, HyGleaCare Inc.
