Top Impacting Factors: Market Scenario Analysis, Trends, Drivers and Impact Analysis

Wedding rings and engagement rings are considered essential in many wedding cultures. The simplest forms of the rings were used since a long time and have created a huge market share, but as the fashion, innovation and designing have created new trends in the market the millennial and Z generation have been inclined toward luxurious wedding ring. The surge in technology and use of new machineries, optimization of designs through CAD, social media presence of customers, celebrity endorsements, remodeling of the shape and designs of rings, comfortable wedding rings, stipulation of customized rings, augmentation of investment in better quality of raw material, improvement in brief designing, and features of wedding rings drive the growth of the global wedding ring market. However, limitation of distribution channel, high prices of the luxury wedding rings, and increased competitiveness in the industry hinder the market growth. Contrarily, investments in automation and innovation, launch of new series in design, inclination toward customer satisfaction, and introduction of discounts and special offers present new pathway in the global wedding ring market.

The global wedding ring market trends are as follows:

Fascinating wedding rings market

Changes in fashion and trend with each year has led to the development of many new fascinating wearables. The use of wedding rings is being known from an era but the reinvention of the jewelry industry has created a new trend of wedding rings in the market. The investment of key players in improving efficiency of technology such as casting and plating by the use of software has created series of luxurious wedding rings in the market attracting the mainstream customers. The social media has influenced the customer purchasing behavior as the presence of brands on the social media platform is creating direct interaction with customers and the awareness about new trends has set new opportunities for the market segment. Brilliant Earth, a leading brand which deals with the ethically sourced and lab-grown diamonds, has introduced variants of wedding rings such as elongated diamond shapes, yellow gold ring, stacked and nested rings, fancy shaped eternity bands, and delicate halos for women segment and plain metal bands and contemporary rings for men. The concept of personalized engraving on inside and outside surface of the ring has also created the leading companies to grow in the wedding rings market.

The customer's requirement for a wedding ring is not only limited to the radiating designs but also comfortable and non-allergen rings; therefore, emphasis by the leading brands has been laid on providing customer satisfaction and comfort in the rings. The limitation of the wedding ring market lies within the market segment with low disposable income.
