The highlight of the evening was when Stephen Votino with fellow co-owners Lisa Myers and Lindsey Jenkins presented a \$500 donation to Caswell Beach Turtle Watch's Program Co- Coordinators, Jamie Lloyd and Teresa Putnum.

Caswell Beach Turtle Watch exemplify the true meaning of volunteering and for that we and all the Leatherback and Loggerhead Sea Turtles hatchlings say, Thank You.”

Stephen Votino, CEO/Co-Owner, C21 Collective

Why the donation to Caswell Beach Turtle Watch? Stephen Votino explained to all in attendance, “Caswell Beach Turtle Watch is simple and pure in all they do for all of us. Co- Coordinators, Jamie Lloyd and Teresa Putnam, and their fellow volunteers, exemplify the true meaning of volunteering and for that we and all the Leatherback and Loggerhead Sea Turtles hatchlings say, Thank You.” “And more volunteers like Helen & Jim Hunt are so needed.”

Caswell Beach Turtle Watch's Co-Coordinator, Teresa Putnum expressed the organization's appreciation for CENTURY 21 Collective's donation and what the donation will do, "100% of the $500 donation will go to help fund landscape green and edging for the nests, maintain and gas our beach buggy and signs to identify the nests, strings to close off the nesting site, training sessions for our volunteers and more." Fellow Co-Coordinator, Jamie Lloyd added, "Caswell Beach Turtle Watch will be accepting volunteer applications now through February 2023."
