Color matching of children's clothing: Kids Summer Clothes Vancouver

When parents choose children's clothing brands, most of them first pay attention to the color of children's clothing. Yes, children have original sensitivity and unique preferences for color, so when buying children's clothing, first of all, you should judge from the shape and skin color. If the child is a little girl with dark skin, you should choose high brightness, High-purity, colorful children's clothing, such a dress will appear spiritual and eye-catching. If the little girl has a brighter complexion, such as wearing pink, yellow, and red children's clothes, she will look lively and bright, even if she wears gray or black, she will look delicate and elegant, giving people a comfortable and natural feeling.

Kid's clothing Style:

The style of children's clothing should be loose and simple without too many decorations, but children's clothing better to have pockets, which can hold handkerchiefs and things that children like.

The sleeves, trousers, and hem of children's clothing can be cut longer so that they can be worn the next year. Two sets of sweaters can be prepared, the small one can be worn close to the body, the large one can be worn outside as a smock, and it can be added to the cotton coat when the weather is cold.

The types of children's clothing that fat children should not wear are suspenders, checkered pants, tights, ultra-short, and more complicated children's clothing. Suitable children's clothing: mid-length, large pants, skirts, children's clothing with darker colors as much as possible, but also with bright colors. For thin babies, unsuitable children's clothing is sleeveless, thin suspenders. Suitable children's clothing is ultra-short, tight-fitting, and more children's clothing in full and jumping colors.

Fabric selection for children's clothing: Buy Kids Clothes Online

Kids are active and have no awareness of protecting clothes, the fabrics of children's clothing are generally strong, durable, and not easily damaged. At the same time, the comfort of fabrics should also be considered.

Because the clothes are close to the skin, children's skin is generally sensitive, and the clothes and the skin often rub against each other, so the fabric is particularly required to have good hygroscopicity and good ventilation. It is necessary to consider the requirements of sweat absorption and ventilation.

Color:

White is the best foil. Red is eye-catching enough to be charming, and white is enough to set off any color. Therefore, using a white top with red pants will not dilute the beauty of the red at all, but will make the red more vivid.

The nature of children should be considered first. The comfort of clothes is a very important factor, and loose and natural casual clothes should be the main feature. The child's body is growing, and it is very convenient to wear casual clothes with an exquisite appearance, free and easy, loose, and usually play games, sports, etc.

For bigger children, when choosing tops for them, they should choose collarless or round-neck clothes, such as round-neck T-shirts, small suspender skirts, etc.; the lower body wears trousers, and the trousers should not be too loose.
