Ellefson of Megadeth & Altitudes & Attitude featuring Frank Bello of Anthrax). Out the box, they quickly caught the attention of Jamey Jasta (Hatebreed) who went on to release their debut through his label, Stillborn Records. They've released one EP, four full length recordings, including their unique guest vocalist album "Darkest of Angels" (EMP Label Group). Their newest self-titled release is also on David Ellefson of Megadeth's newly revamped Combat Records, a division of EMP.

This album is a roller coaster ride of emotions”

Esteban Alvarez, vocalist

D.B.W. has released their most powerful work with their new album 'Capital Conspiracy', out now and available on all music platforms worldwide via Mindsnap Music - Salt Of The Earth Records. "This album is a roller coaster ride of emotions," said vocalist Esteban Alvarez. "These emotions range from grief of a loved one or a passion, struggles with love and life, to current affairs in both the world and our country regarding both social and governmental affairs. To me, it was an opportunity to tell a story to the world and to share a perspective that many wouldn't or couldn't picture or relate to. This album is raw emotion in its purest form."

"Here Comes The Dead" is the first video dropped from this epic and timely album which was shot by Tom Flynn (Lamb of God, All That Remains, Fire From The Gods). This video "shows the dark side of technology - all its controlling & brain washing qualities among our human race." The video is quickly gaining traction across the country including the hard rock platform at Club Com, OKTV / The Chubb Show, KVJ Rocks, Video Hits, Video Mix TV, Skid Road and The Hype Show. "Here Comes The Dead" also hit #1 on the NACC Top 30 Loud Chart and #2 on the most added record on the Metal Contraband "Most Added" radio chart. D.B.W. is featured in issue #98 of Out Burn Magazine, published and available now:
