

4 Cs of Diamonds are essential parameters to know when grading, appraisals or when selecting certified diamonds by GIA

Diamond grading is a detailed science that needs training and experience. It involves being in touch with experts constantly and always involved in new know-how

NEW YORK, NEW YORK, USA, July 29, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Diamond Grading involves finding out the Color, the Clarity, the Cut & the Carat of the diamond. The Cut of the diamond involves knowing the shape of the diamond and also the detailed angular measurements of the diamond's crown and pavilion to understand flow of light through and back out the table of the diamond. This is definitely a science and not a task for a naïve consumer or a first timer looking to invest his money into diamonds.

The 4 Cs of diamonds are clearly detailed by a laboratory diamond report may it be from GIA or IGI. This gives you access to measurements of the dimensions of the diamonds and also intricate information about simulating light flow through a diamond. Table%, Total Depth%, Crown Ables and Pavilion angle determine how much of the light reflects back out from the table and the extent of the Fireball effect. The pattern of the light flow also tells you consistency of the light flow and delay of the sparkle.
