

National Health Center Week Aug 7 - 13

North Texas Healthcare and Community Leaders Convene for Panel Discussion

DALLAS, TEXAS, UNITED STATES, August 2, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- National Health Center Week (NHCW), this year August 7 – 13, is designed to raise awareness about the mission and accomplishments of community health centers. Health centers in this nation provide preventive and primary care services to nearly 29 million people and have continued to do so while facing a global pandemic. Community health centers like Foremost Family Health Centers provide care to people – very often communities of color – who disproportionately suffer from chronic disease and lack access to affordable, quality care. To better and more effectively address these issues, an expert panel of community and healthcare leaders will convene during National Health Center Week.
