

The Tntra Podcast presents insights from Bruce Mau, Dilip Asbe, and other global experts

From Innovation to FinTech to New Economy, the podcast covers a host of topics, technologies and trends.

ORLANDO, FLORIDA, UNITED STATES, August 2, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The newly launched Tntra Podcast is already making its waves in the innovation and entrepreneurship community. The podcast was launched a couple of months back and has since received a positive response from its audience. Industry experts and global practitioners in Innovation, Design, Technology, FinTech, HealthTech, New Economy, and more take center stage in the podcast. They talk about their journey and offer valuable insights in their respective industries.

The podcast is hosted by Mehul Desai, the Co-founder and Chairman of Tntra.

Mehul connects with industry experts to explore their views on how innovation and technology will change the world. Mehul is an innovator and successful serial entrepreneur who has been deeply entrenched in the global ICT and FinTech industry for 30 years, and effectively each episode becomes a lively discussion on his and the experts worldview, providing a different perspective on the world we live in and the future we can build for ourselves.

In the first episode of the podcast series, Bruce Mau, CEO and Co-founder of Massive Change Network talks about the interconnectedness of life-centric design and innovation. Bruce and Mehul also discuss how innovation impacts societal progress.

The second episode focuses on Mehul Desai's journey of 30 years in the FinTech industry. Mehul
