Anesthesia is a medical procedure that is used to control pain during the course of a surgery. It is provided through pharmaceutical drugs called anesthetics with the help of anesthesia devices. Anesthesia devices are used during various surgical procedures, such as ophthalmology, dental, cardiology, and neurology for sedation to control breathing, blood pressure, blood flow, heart rate & rhythm, and manage pain. The requirement of anesthesia monitoring devices basically depends on the types of cases performed in the operating room. The parameters to be considered for anesthesia monitoring devices include continuous assessment by measurement of patient's oxygenation, ventilation, circulation, and temperature. A high level of monitoring should be maintained until the patient fully recovers from anesthesia. Clinical observations must be supplemented to the monitoring devices.

The report segments the market based on product, application, end user, and region. Based on product, it is classified into anesthesia delivery machines, anesthesia disposables & accessories, anesthesia monitors, and anesthesia information management systems (AIMS). The anesthesia disposables & accessories are further divided into anesthesia circuits, anesthesia masks, laryngoscopes, HME and others.
