The wind turbine market consists of sales of wind turbines by entities (organizations, sole traders, and partnerships) that refer to a power generating device that has been driven by the kinetic energy of the wind. A wind turbine will turn wind energy into electricity using the aerodynamic force from the rotor blades, which work like an airplane wing or helicopter rotor blade. When wind flows across the blade, the air pressure on one side of the blade will decrease. Wind turbines consist of two categories: horizontal axis wind turbines and vertical axis wind turbines.

Global Wind Turbine Market Trends

Technological enhancements are one of the key wind turbine industry trends. The technology on the offshore direct drive platform allows for the re-use of most components from previous generations. In January 2019, Siemens Gamesa Renewable Energy, a Spanish-German wind engineering company, launched the SG 10.0-193 DD, the company's first 10+ MW offshore wind turbine. The new SG 10.0-193 DD will combine experience and knowledge from five generations of proven direct drive technology in one 10 MW turbine. The yearly energy production of one SG 10.0-193 DD is enough to power about 10,000 European dwellings.
