The global diabetic retinopathy market size was valued at $3,086.00 million in 2020, and is projected to reach $10,785.50 million by 2030, registering a CAGR of 13.7% from 2021 to 2030.

Diabetic retinopathy (DR) is a medical condition of the eye prevalent in diabetic individuals. It is mainly caused due to damage of the blood vessels of the retina. Without timely treatment, the disease leads to bleeding in the eyes, cloudy vision, and may even destroy the retina. DR is among the common cause of loss of vision in the diabetic population. DR is among the most common causes of preventable blindness and severe visual impairment.

The market is expected to witness significant growth during the forecast period due to factors such as increase in prevalence of diabetes, growth in geriatric population, rise in incidence of blindness owing to diabetes, and augment in focus on awareness, which facilitate early diagnosis to control the disease. Although these factors garner the growth of the market, dearth of skilled ophthalmologists and extended approval time for drugs can pose as a major obstacle for the growth of the diabetic retinopathy market. On the other hand, emergence of combined therapies for treatment of diabetic macular edema, and the emerging markets of Asia-Pacific and LAMEA are anticipated to provide several opportunities for the market growth.
