"Our Payson festival this year attracted a record crowd, and we expect no less in Orem," states John Pilmer, ULCF communication chair. "In addition to our Beatles Tribute and Youth Bands features, we will highlight an aspiring young guitarist who received a guitar from the festival two years ago."

Two years ago, a generous seasoned guitarist won the Best In Music $800 Fender guitar drawing at the festival. He turned around and gave the guitar to Connor Beeston, an aspiring teen hoping to become a skilled musician. After tutoring from Matt Rushton, a top Utah guitarist and teacher, Connor will join the band Moe Low on stage to perform at the Come Together festival on August 20th.

"I'm pleased with the progress Connor has made since receiving the guitar," states Matt Rushton. "Connor's persistence and passion for rock music is growing and we are happy to encourage him."
