Critical Illness Insurance Market Overview

Critical illness is mainly associated with any illness, disease, or health condition which is a potential or immediate threat to life and needs comprehensive care and continuous monitoring, often in intensive care. Critical illness insurance is an insurance product in which helps to check if an insurer is contracted to typically make payments if the policyholder is diagnosed with any kind of specific illnesses on a predetermined list as part of an insurance policy.

The critical illness insurance market is expected to witness lucrative growth in the future. An increase in the number of critical illness cases such as stroke, cancer, renal failure and heart attack has proved to be the main cause of awareness among people. The increasing cases of critical illness and more expenditure for the insurer and uninsured population are expected to drive the growth of the critical illness insurance market. Rising medical expenses is expected to drive the critical illness insurance market.

An increase in premiums of insurance due to the addition of certain illnesses and age restrictions in critical illness insurance policies poses to be the main challenging factor. However, a lack of information about critical illness insurance is expected to hamper the market growth.
